

Don't Worry About Your Defects in Thinking of God. It Means Perfection is Close By!

Kavi Karnapura, one of the finest poets of all times, eloquently depicts the following:

“A person’s flaws frequently appear right before his or her perfection. Just like how smoke covers a fire’s light just before the fire appears.”

The darkest moment is just before dawn.

Just before dying, the body may flutter a lot.

In the same way, you may experience a sudden increase in your weaknesses and slips into forgetfulness of God as you practice thinking of God more and more daily.

According to Karnapura, this is actually an auspicious symptom.

So you should never get disheartened even if are you unable to absorb yourself in the deepest thoughts of God right away.

You have nothing to lose and everything to gain for your soul just by trying to think of God all the time because thinking of God is the real life of your soul.

In fact, rebellion by your mind in regards to thinking of God, means that you are actually inching closer to attaining perfection in meditation on God and being with God in the spiritual world in your afterlife.

Kavi continues,

“Due to the value placed on one’s own life by every living being, it is impossible for them to perceive any flaws in their own acts.

“Similarly, while a lamp may not be able to light up its own base, it still eliminates darkness in all four directions. ”

This is a very subtle point.

If you’re trying to think about God all the time but not feeling its immense benefits right away and are having ups and downs yourself, even then your smallest thoughts of God are still sending out strong spiritual vibrations that are assisting the souls of everyone in the world to discover and connect with their real spiritual, eternal nature and relationship with God.

Your eternal spiritual well-wisher,
B. Sadhu.
